OVERVIEW

With the economics education I received, I started my career in the field of finance at the bank. I had to take a long break from my career due to personal reasons such as living abroad and maternity leave. During this time, I decided to take steps regarding the career change that I had been planning for a long time. When I got the opportunity to realize my dream job, I started my IT career with the programming language C#. And after the courses and personal studies I have taken so far, I have started using now HTML5, CSS3, Bootstrap, JavaScript, ReactJS and I attended Web design, JavaScript and ReactJS education and internship programs with Coder Academy and you can see my projects at GitHub. Of course, I continue to improve myself. If you want, you can review the work I've done in this process on my GitHub account.

I am a compatible team member. I am the one who aims to make the high-quality deliveries to customers while avoiding negative effects under pressure. I am a person who aims to work with Agile mindset in different project cultures and company cultures and constantly improves himself.
